MACBETH EVANS COMPANY PLANS BIG ADDITION TO PRESENT LOCAL PLANT

NEGOTIATING WITH BOROUGH AND PLATE GLASS COMPANY FOR SITE

Purpose to Use New Addition for Warehouse and as a Finishing Room for Special Products

With their ever increasing trade the Macbeth-Evans company expects to build an addition to their present plant here within the near future, if ground for which they are negotiating can be secured. The addition would be used largely for a ware house and for a finishing plant for special ware the manufacture of which constitutes a large portion of the Macbeth Evans product at the present time.

Last night C.R. Perigren, the business manager for the company met with a committee from council consisting of Charles O. Frye, W. R. Gaut and Charles Schmieler, relative to the vacating of Eighth street, bordering the factory. The Macbeth Evans company are understood to have an option on a strip owned by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, on the southern side of Eighth street and it is planned to widen the plant 100 feet.

Council is in favor of assisting in whatever way they can the Macbeth Evans company in their efforts to secure the site, but feel that to donate the strip asked for, would be exceeding their rights. They will not dispose of Eighth street, it is said unless another opening to the river can be secured.

At the meeting of the committee last night Superintendent Hays of the Hussey Binns Shovel company was present and was asked to take up with his company a proposition from the borough to purchase enough ground to permit them to make a street to the river at Third street and he promised to do so at his earliest opportunity.

The Macbeth Evans company now has in its employ between 1,300 and 1,500 persons, and averages a pay weekly of $12,000 or $13,000. It is Charleroi's chief industry and the company's manufacturing interest are gradually centering here. The construction of an addition would mean the employment of a number more men.

BELLE VERNON BRIDGE COMPANY

FILES AN APPEAL IN FAYETTE

First Step in Neighbor County in Refusing Set Price.

UMBEL INSTRUCTS VANCE

The first step of the Belle Vernon Bridge Corporation in Fayette county, was taken yesterday when Attorney W. K. Vance of Mellvain, Vance and Gibson, of Monongahela, appeared in their behalf and asked for an appeal from the purchase of the property by the county authorities. The appeal was asked for under the Act of 1878. Attorney Vance stated that the company had already taken an appeal in Washington county and merely wanted a transcript of the records of Fayette county to make their case complete in the other court.

R. F. Hopwood, counsel for the commissioners objected, and asked for time to make an examination before the appeal is allowed in this county. At the end of that period he will be ready to give his opinion as to the legality of the matter.

Vance told the court that there was no question as to the legality of the case as they had already secured an appeal in Washington county. Judge Umbel replied that the facts of the Westmoreland county court do not bind the courts of Fayette county and ordered the papers filed.

Entertain for Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Williams of 509 Meadow avenue last night gave a party in honor of their daughter Elizabeth, it being the occasion of her 11th birthday. Fourteen little girl friends were present and were entertained with games, speeches and songs. Refreshments were served.

Lad Decides He is Well

Typhoid Patient at Hospital Takes Notion to Go Home.

Peter Rabinski, a 7 year old Twilight lad who has been at the Monessen-Charleroi hospital since July 28, suffering from typhoid fever, concluded this morning that he had fully recovered from the disease and decided to go home. He leaped from his bed, and was getting into street clothes when discovered by a nurse. She put him back into bed, the youngster fighting and screaming to be allowed to leave. He had to be tied in bed to keep him there.

TUBERCULOSIS IS PREVALENT

Health Officer Finds Slavs Suffer More than any Other Race.

FLIES CAUSE TROUBLE

According to Health Officer William Darby the house fly and ~~some~~ ~~closets~~ are the principal causes of most of the fatalities, sickness and disease among children. The Slavish people being the greatest sufferers, the Italians being second on the list. He says:

"Among the adults tuberculosis is the prevailing disease, caused principally by living in over-crowded houses, had ventilation, sleeping in damp rooms and cellars.

"Such places should be closed, and the party renting the same should not be permitted to collect rent for such houses after being condemned by the proper officers, until it is put in a healthy and sanitary condition. This is my observation of conditions existing at present and I am satisfied I am sustained by some of the leading physicians.

"There is a great amount of money expended by the State to cover some of these conditions, but we will have to have more stringent laws enacted dealing directly with unscrupulous landlords and real estate agents who allow such conditions to exist about the properties they rent."

REORGANIZING COAL COMPANY SO BANK CAN GET ITS MONEY

To take over the stock and property of the Washington County Coal company, in order that the stockholders of the New Castle Savings and Trust company may secure the money yet due them, it is now planned to form a new coal company. It will be called the Avella Coal company. Stockholders of the banks and the Washington County Coal company will be much interested. All the former yesterday received official notice of this plan.

Each of the bank stockholders is asked to sign a written release of his bank stock to be exchanged when the plans are completed for stock in the Avella Coal company.

Written signed releases by the bank stockholders of their interests are necessary the notices explain, in order that Receiver John H. Panter, of the bank will be able to make his final report to the Dauphin county court of his receivership without having first to go through a long audit.

AUTO IS WRECKED BY TRAIN

Louis Kyle Has Narrow Escape From Death.

ENGINE STOPPED RUNNING

Louis Kyle, proprietor of the Kyle Hotel at Belle Vernon had a narrow escape from death this morning, and at the same time lost a Model 10 Buick automobile, in which he was coming to Charleroi, when his machine was struck by a train at the railroad crossing between Speers and Charleroi. The machine was smashed to pieces.

Mr. Kyle was driving the automobile himself, and was the only one in it. Just as he got well on the north bound track the engine of the machine for the first time in its history went back on him, and left the automobile standing there. Just at this juncture the work train for which a man by the name of Bird was engineer came along, and before it could be stopped had crashed into the machine. Kyle saw the oncoming train in time to leap from the automobile. The splintered machine was brought to Spencer's automobile garage in small pieces.

NEW REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE ROOMS NICEST IN STATE

Fine Place Fitted up at Washington as County Headquarters.

Washington County Republicans now have about the nicest headquarters in the state—the rooms ensuited—ensuite is the only way to it—in the Brown building, third floor, Washington, Pa. Any luke warm worker will be willing to confer there several times during a campaign and Chairman J. Frank McClay anticipates some difficulty in getting away from the rooms even to see a ball game or a Centennial parade.

About August 15, Chairman McClay has stated, Charles Matthews, candidate for Congress will come up from New Castle to meet Washington county Republicans in the new headquarters. The congressional nominee's most effective campaign work is done by personal contact with the voters and he is now planning a tour of the three counties. The new headquarters will be visited for the first time by many when Matthews arrives.

PRESIDENT LEWIS CALLS CONVENTION

Matters to be Settled Definitely Regarding Illinois Field.

President T. L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America Tuesday issued a call from Indianapolis for a special national convention of miners to be held in that city. Lewis says this is imperative because of complications in many districts and because of unfairness in the vote by which the peace proposals for the Illinois field were overwhelmingly defeated.

Miners generally believe there is a powerful movement on foot to force the general coal mining situation to the front as a political issue. They point to Col. Roosevelt and John Mitchell in the anthracite field and activity at Washington. The Taft administration is apparently trying to hold tight strings on the new Bureau of Mines and President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor flatly announces that he does not intend to resign and that there is no controversy between his organization and the Western Federation of Labor.

MINERS OF DISTRICT ASKED TO ASSIST IRWIN STRIKERS

International Board Joining With Local Board in Providing Funds for Relief of Those Out of Work

MANY NEW MEN IMPORTED BY THE COMPANY

The miners of the Pittsburgh district will shortly be asked to contribute to a fund to assist in supporting the miners of the Irwin field. The international board will also assist the strikers something not done heretofore by the head body of the miner's organization.

The 12,000 idle miners in that district have been looked after by the local officers of the United Mine Workers of District No. 5, and when strikers have been ejected by the deputies in the employ of the coal operators, the miners have given all the assistance possible, buying tents and provisions and doing all in their power to assist the strikers, telling them to hold out a little longer and they will be sure to return to the miners as union men and work under union conditions.

Many men who have never before mined coal it is said are being imported into the field by the coal companies.

At present more than $10,000 is being sent into the field and this amount will be increased to $20,000 or more before the middle of next month.

Tom Haggerty of the central Pennsylvania field is now in charge of the situation in the strike zone and is being assisted by the miners' officials of the Pittsburgh and Irwin field.

A consecration meeting will be held to night.

WASHINGTON IS DETERMINED TO HAVE AEROPLANE

Centennial Feature Promised for Big Week in October.

Washington will have the aeroplane exhibition for one of the big features of the Centennial celebration October 2 to 8 next. This was demonstrated when Manager Bullman visited a number of the business men of the town to secure guarantors for the $5,000 necessary to bring the airship to Washington. The proposition met with a warm response and a goodly sum was subscribed within two hours' time. The plan which is being pushed to bring the airship there is in certain respects a private enterprise. Stock is subscribed for at the rate of $10 a share no payment being required until October. As soon as the entire $5,000 is covered in his way the coming of the aeroplane is assured. This sum, however, must be guaranteed by Thursday night as that is the time limit set by the Wright brothers.

Two Grade Teachers to be Elected to Fill Vacancies.

WILL BE REGULAR SESSION

The last regular meeting of the school board previous to the opening of school for the fall term will be held tomorrow night, when arrangements will be made for the coming term.

There are two teachers to be elected, vacancies having been occasioned in the fifth and sixth grades of the Fifth street building by the resignations of Miss Alice Woodward to accept a place in the Rineyville schools and of Miss Maybell King to accept a place in the Monongahela schools.

School will open this term on August 29. Superintendent J. G. Pentz with his daughter is enjoying a vacation now in the east and will return shortly to take up the preparatory work. Indications are for a successful term.

Wind and Nerves

The east winds hug the earth more closely and gather moisture, dust and bacteria says the Chicago Tribune. They are cold and humid, altogether forming an enervating influence on human and animal life, and rendering it susceptible to the disease germs which the winds carry and disseminate.

The cool, pure northwest winds come from a region of dry highly electrified air where ozone exists in comparatively large quantities. They are invigorating. The framework of nerves in the human being is like a delicate electrical apparatus the nerves being the wires and the brain a ganglia receiving and distributing centres.

Everyone knows that a telephone works better on a clear, dry day than on a wet, muggy one. The moist atmosphere lessens vitality. The nerve wires grow flaccid and heavy. The messages become confused. Hence low spirits, melancholia, distorted mental outlook, faulty assimilation and disease.

The opposite effects flow from the northwest winds. The west and the northwest winds keep the mucous membranes of the body in good working order. The coating of moisture which is always present with the east winds disappears. Absence of any wind if long continued has a bad effect on the human body and mind.

A prolonged calm means lack of ventilation on a great scale. The winds serve to mix in normal proportions the gases which compose the atmosphere, and in this way they are conducive to health up to a certain point. Beyond about twenty miles an hour their influence begins to be unfavorable.

War on Rats

Perhaps no where else in the world is such a systematic warfare against rats being conducted as in San Francisco says the Wheeling Register. Thirty laborers are employed all the time as rat trappers and there are about 100,000 rats in cages in constant use. Poison is prohibited except in the sewers. Elsewhere bacon, cheese and bread are used. The war of extermination has been in progress for many months, yet the report for the month of May, during which 8,561 rats were trapped, indicates that there is still an abundance of material to work on. The bait used included 321 pounds of bacon, 100 pounds of cheese and 620 loaves of bread. More than 27,000 pieces of poisoned bread were distributed on boards placed in sewers.

There is no way of knowing just what progress has been made in the rat war in 'Frisco, since it is impossible to tell what the ratio is between the rat population of the city and the number caught. If thirty men can still make an average haul of 1,000 a month, it is apparent that the pest is far from being stamped out. Rats propagate so rapidly that it is likely that several times that number are born every month in San Francisco. Man has never made much progress in his fight against the rat, and probably never will unless some modern pieper presents a more effective weapon than has yet been devised. The chief value of this campaign in San Francisco lies not so much in the number of rats destroyed as in the higher regard for sanitation which it has brought about in the instruction of buildings and in the care of premises.

The Rise of the Negro
How rapid has been the rise of the negro race during the last ten years as a property owning class in the South is shown in publication of the Atlanta University edited by Prof. W. E. Burghardt Du Bois, says the New York World.
"In 1900 the total property listed by negro citizens in North Carolina amounted to $9,478,399; by 1908 it had increased to $21,253,581, a gain of 123 per cent.
"In 1900 the total assessed value of real estate and personal property owned by negroes in Virginia was $15,856,570 in 1908 it was $25,628,336, an increase of nearly 62 per cent.
"In 1900 the assessed value property owned by negroes in Georgia was $14,118,720; in 1908 it was $27,042,672, a gain of over 91 per cent.
"According to the estimates of the American Economic association, the accumulated wealth of the negro race in the United States in 1900 was approximately $300,000,000. It is a reasonable inference from the figures of the three states quoted that the total property owned by negroes in 1908 was not less than $560,000,000. This is a relatively small amount of property in the aggregate, considering the numbers of the negro population, but the rate at which it has been acquired and the condition of steady progress which it illustrates are for great significance."

CATHOLICS ABOUT MURDER BAPTISTS

Sort of a Wreck up at the Baseball Lot Early Last Evening.

It really wasn't necessary for the Baptists and Catholics to play seven innings last night as the Catholics were handed enough runs in the very first round to win out. Four runs were given them without the least sign of a hit, three errors, a wild pitch and two passed balls being responsible. The Catholics made two more in the second and tallied four in the third after which they were satisfied to get two hits as Kearns and his backers steadied down, allowing no runners to pass second.

The Baptists were not so lucky as the Catholics as they had no person on bases when the Catholics made their misplays. Their three runs were secured mostly by hitting, a three sacker and two singles bringing in two in the second, one coming in the third on two singles and a stolen base. Score:

Want Pure Water

Analysis of the water being furnished Scottsdale residents by the Citizens Water company from Indian Creek and the Mt. Vernon reservoirs shows that the stuff is greatly polluted. The product has been "stinking" to use the plain word for it. There are over 30 cases of typhoid fever in the town, and the water that is being taken for drinking purposes is in a very bad condition. Weekly analysis are demanded to keep a close tab on the situation.

Robert J. Callahan of Charleroi and Miss Cecelia Berns of Steubenville, Ohio, were married this morning at 8:30 o'clock at the Holy Name Catholic church, at Steubenville, in the presence of a number of friends. The couple will take a brief trip before coming to Charleroi where they will likely reside. The bride is a well known young lady in Steubenville where she is a favorite among a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The groom is popular in Charleroi. He is employed as street car conductor by the Pittsburg Railway company.

On the Cars of New York

The surface cars of New York carry on each line as different a nationality as if each belonged to a different country. On the Eighth avenue line there are mostly colored people; on the Sixth avenue they are largely Americans; if there are any Americans in New York; on the Broadway cars there are stylishly dressed New Yorkers; on the Third avenue Irish and Jewish people predominate, on the Second avenue Jewish, Italian, Hungarian, Swedish and German, while on the surface cars that run along Avenue A you see every foreign nationality under the sun, all bunched.—New York Press.

THE CHAMELEON.

This Curious Animal Is Like Two Half Creatures Joined.

The chameleon is not allied closely to any other animal. It stands as a genus by itself. The nervous centers in one lateral half operate independently of those in the other. This seems outrageous, and it is, but it is true. The chameleon has two lateral centers of perception—of sensation and of motion. There exists also a third center—that common one in which abides the power of concentration by means of which the two sides of the creature may be forced to work in harmony with each other. But this center of concentration does not always dominate the situation. Notwithstanding the strictly symmetrical structure of the animal's two halves, the eyes move quite independently, and they convey distinct and separate impressions to their respective centers of perception. As of the eyes, so of the other members—each reports to and is controlled by its own center.

The result is that when the faculty of concentration becomes disturbed everything is jumbled. Let the chameleon be much agitated and its movements grow erratic. They are those of two creatures fastened together, or rather, of two half creatures joined. Each half exhibits its intention of going its separate way. The result is a pitiable confusion of movement. There is no concordance of action. A curious example of the chameleon's helplessness when unduly excited is found in the fact that it cannot swim. The shock of being plunged into water upsets the pulse of its faculty for concentration. Forthwith each side strikes out wildly for itself, to its own undoing. The chameleon is the only four legged vertebrate that cannot swim.

When the creature is calm every impulse to motion is referred to the common center of concentration, and the entire organism acts in fitting accord with the commands issued by that faculty. Thus, while totally different impressions from the two eyes are transmitted from their centers to the common one, that concentrating power decides as to which scene is the more important and then directs the eye otherwise engaged also to regard it. The same principle applies in the control of all the members—so long as the animal remains unexcited. Any observer may easily verify the existence of this dual nature in a superficial way by some experiments with a sleeping chameleon. A touch on one side of the animal will wake that side up, while the other side sleeps calmly on.

Tips For Home Wedding.

The summer wedding is a dainty affair, as all rosetime happenings must be. And the bride and the bridegroom and most of all the bride's family must not forget that at this wedding, as at all weddings all the year round, showiness isn't—well, just isn't very nice. The wedding breakfast, for instance, may be a charming piece of gracious hospitality and happiness. But for persons of moderate means it is the worst possible taste to splurge in the usual way. An afternoon or morning wedding can be made a charming without extravagance with it, while the little spread provided at home for the intimate few may with taste, take on a special exquisite touch through its very reserve. Artificial light lending particular charm to gala effects, have the big table which is to hold the refreshments in the dining room so lighted. Candles flung a pretty glow, particularly if shaded with a faint pink, and it is not absolutely necessary for the trimmings of a bride's luncheon or tea table to be in white, though the general prejudice is for this.

If the table is gracefully decorated—candle shades, ribbons and flowers all in one tone—any little bite and sup is enough to show good feeling. A simple buffet bite or afternoon tea frequently follows a wedding instead of the usual more elaborate breakfast. At this there may be a big bowl of fruit punch, sandwiches of several sorts, fancy cakes, ices and bonbons. For those who may not care for the punch, bouillon, coffee, tea or chocolate may be offered. Have the spread of whatever dainties you choose, but remember that an invitation to the home calls for some sort of hospitality however slight.

The bride also cuts the wedding cake herself and sees that every guest has a portion.

To Iron Ponges.

When laundering any article made of pongee, iron it without first sprinkling it and you will find it looks far newer and silkier than when dampened and ironed in the usual manner. Woman's Home Companion.

Clearing the Atmosphere.

In his capacity of dramatic critic Mr. J. Comyns Carr, the author, wrote a notice of the play of "Charles L." in which Irving played under the management of Mr. Bateman. His production deeply incensed the manager. In order perhaps to find the opportunity of informing the critic of his disapproval, the manager invited him to a supper at the Westminster club on the second or third night of the production. When he thought the fitting moment had arrived Mr. Bateman led the conversation to the point at issue and emphatically banging the table with his fist, declared in the loudest of tones that he did not produce his play at the Westminster theater to please Mr. Comyns Carr. There was a momentary awkward silence, which Mr. Carr confessed he did not feel quite able to break, but which was released by a wit of the company with the happy retort, "Well, dear boy, then you can be surprised if they don't please him."

SLIP FOR A BABY.

It Is In One Piece and Has Two Seams and Is Easily Made.

A charming slip for a baby that is in every sense of the word a "one piece frock" is made after an admirable pattern. The little garment is cut out from one piece of material, a round hole cut out for the neck and an opening down the back for four or five inches to allow the slip to go over the baby's head.

There are two seams, from the hem or the frock to the wrist of the sleeve, one on each side.

This pattern may be used for any material. A slip of finest white muslin was made after this model. Around the neck was a narrow band of hand embroidery—a spray of forget-me-nots and tiny leaves in the white mercerized thread—bristled to the frock. The sleeves were trimmed in the same manner at the wrist, and both neck and sleeves were finished with a frill of fine narrow lace.

A panel was outlined both back and front by a scroll design of forget-me-nots and French knots running from the hem in front over the shoulders to the hem in back.

A three inch hem brieftly finished the slip, and it was fastened down the back with tiny pearl ball buttons.

A cap was made to be worn with this slip, and it was of fine white lawn embroidered all around the edge with a scroll of tiny forget-me-nots, and the same blossoms were scattered all over the entire surface. The edge was scalloped and buttonholed and finished with a frill of lace gathered to the underside of the bonnet. This made a soft frame for the baby face.

A lining of thin forget-me-not blue silk and one of shell pink came with the bonnet and two sets of huge rosettes of soft satin ribbon, one of blue and one of shell pink. The rosettes were fastened to the bonnet over each ear, and a single piece of ribbon went under the chin and fastened under a rosette with a tiny gold safety pin.

When the blue rosettes were worn, they brought out the blue of the baby's eyes, and the pink ones heightened the color of the soft little face.

A DEADLY CONTEST.

Tragic Climax of a Bicycle Race in Australia.

One of the most singular events in the annals of athletics occurred a few years ago at Sydney, Australia. The occasion was a great electric light bicycle race, and the attendance was not less than 10,000 people. There were fifty entries, two of whom, James Somerville and Perry Cliff, were not only professional rivals, but deadly enemies. Both were considered expert riders.

From the start of the race Somerville led, with Cliff a close second. Somerville kept the lead throughout and came into the last lap with Cliff only a few feet behind him. When about twenty-five yards from the finish Somerville put on a terrific burst of speed and drew away from his rival. Suddenly at this point his grip on the handle bar relaxed, and he fell forward. The machine, however, under the tremendous impulse it had received, raced ahead like an arrow, the rider hanging limply over the handle bar.

Four yards from the tape the machine slowed down a little. At this point the front wheel of Cliff's machine struck the hind wheel of Somerville's, sending both wheel and rider across the tape. Somerville won the race, but he was dead several seconds before he crossed the tape.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Dalton's Experiment.

The English chemist Dalton was a schoolteacher. He worked without a laboratory and with crude apparatus, mostly made by himself from simple materials. Here is an example described in his own words:

"Took an ale glass of a conical figure, two and a half inches in diameter and three inches deep; filled it with water that had been standing in the room and consequently of the temperature of the air nearly; put the bulb of the thermometer to the bottom of the glass, the scale being out of the water. Then, having marked the temperature I put the red hot tip of the poker half an inch deep in the water, holding it there steadily for half a minute, and as soon as it was withdrawn I dipped the bulb of a sensible thermometer into the water, when it rose in a few seconds to 180 degrees."

He then determined the temperature of the water at the bottom after five minutes, after twenty minutes and after an hour and found that it rose gradually from 47 to 52 degrees. This simple experiment proved that water has the power to conduct heat, which had been denied by no less an authority than Rumford.—Youth's Companion.

"What do you mean?"
"Most tourists spend a week in Venice. He did it in a day."—Kansas City Journal.

No Excuse.

"Is that horse you bought a kicker?"
"A kicker?" answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "I am the fellow who paid twice his value and who is buying the feed. What has the horse got to kick about?"—Washington Star.

AN ANCIENT SKY PILOT

From Garnett's "Anthology," volume 7, page 48, I copy the following, taken from the "Writings of Lucian," a Greek born about 100 A. D.:

"We were suddenly caught by a whirlwind, which turned our vessel several times around in a circle with tremendous velocity and lifted it above 3,000 stadia in the air, not setting it down again on the sea, but kept it suspended above the water at that height and carried us on, with swelled sails, above the clouds."

In these days of air conquest this quotation might be of utmost interest to aeronauts and also literary men. This ancient Gulliver long preceded Swift, and as for outdistancing Jules Verne another quotation is added:

"Having thus continued our course through the sky for a space of seven days and as many nights, on the eighth day we described a sort of earth in the air," etc. (which proved to be the moon).

The thoroughly familiar vernacular expression "going some" applies with original vigor to this early and perhaps first sky pilot.—New York Times

THE GOOD TIME

Frequently you hear a rich man abused because he stays on the job that made him rich instead of spending his time gadding about the earth in search of a good time. But it is hardly fair to assume that avarice and greed prompt such action or even that it is a lack of faith in humanity. Very likely the work done represents the good time for the man who stays at it after all need of work has passed, for it is certain that there are many ideas of what constitutes happiness, and the man who selects loafing is apt to change his mind in time if he tries it. Doing nothing is harder than work, and if a man has spent many years at work, earning little or play, work brings him more enjoyment than the butterfly existence.—Arlington Globe

POTCATOES A LA PRINCESSE

To one pint of mashed potatoes add one tablespoonful melted butter and one egg well beaten. Cut the potatoes into strips two inches long, one inch wide and half an inch thick. Dip the strips first into the melted butter, then into the egg and lay them with a knife on lightly buttered tin pans. Cook in hot oven for ten minutes and serve.

OLD CADIZ.

Once Richer Than London, Its Chief Business Now Is Salt.

Of Cadiz, the world is said "It is best described by saying the word 'white' with a white pencil on blue paper." Under the morning sun, seen from the harbor, the city is a mass of white buildings in the center of the bay. The buildings are dazzling and almost unbroken by the blue sea. A long pier extends from the town of Cadiz into the bay, and on the pier are the warehouses for the salt. The salt is shipped to South America.

It was great before Rome was founded. And as late as 1710 it was wealthier than London. Commerce has ever been its life. Today its chief business is the production of salt for export. This humble staple, evaporated in countless shallow lagoons in wide spreading marshes, still keeps Cadiz in touch with the new world, as most of the salt is shipped to South America.

The natives pronounce Cadiz with "a" silent and "a" very broad—"Ca-di." That has always been its name, with slight variations. Its Phoenician and Tyrian founders called it Gadir, a castle of fastness. The Romans called it Gades. The Arabs had it Kadis.—Detroit News-Tribune.

THE DIAMOND CUTTER.

His Skill Has Much to Do With the Brilliance of the Gem.

When the expert looks at a diamond he can tell you in a moment where it came from and even whether it was cut lately or some years ago. He knows by its color whence it comes, for the color of the Brazilian diamond differs from that of the South African, and even in South Africa different colors are found in different mines.

In the rough the diamond has little brilliancy, for there is a crust that must be cut away before it can properly reflect the light, and it is this power of refraction which makes the brilliancy of a diamond and has everything to do with its value in the market. The skill of the diamond cutter has much to do with bringing out this brilliancy. He must do the most he can with the rough stone before him and lose as little as possible of the precious weight in the stone.

Diamonds are found in all kinds of queer shapes, for the carbon may be in any position while being crystallized, and the act of crystallization may affect only parts of that carbon. When the expert cutter has a rough diamond before him he judges almost instantly how it will cut to the greatest advantage. If it inclines to the pear shape he will make a pear-shaped diamond of it. If it is square or round the cutting will follow the natural lines as closely as possible, so that the loss may be reduced to a minimum.

To make the stone as brilliant as possible the diamond cutter cuts many facets so as to refract the light from as many points as he can. A full cut brilliant has at least forty-eight facets, and so expert are the cutters that they often cut diamonds so small that it requires a hundred to weigh a carat. Each has forty-eight facets.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

VEST'S CAMPAIGN SPEECH.

Why a Small Boy Persisted in Hearing It Every Day.

"Senator Vest was making a buggy campaign in southeast Missouri some years ago," said a Missouri official. "His driver was a small boy, who was duly impressed with the importance of his distinguished passenger."

"At each town visited by Vest the boy hurried his team to a convenient livery barn and then raced for the courthouse, or wherever the 'speakin'' was to take place, and perched himself with painful regularity on the front seat. He invariably turned his eyes on the senator and took in every word of the speech as if his very life depended on it."

"Finally the lad's continued conspicuous presence among his auditors annoyed the senator, and he kindly but firmly reminded the boy that it was not necessary for him to attend every meeting."

"I make the same speech each time. You have heard it often enough to know it by rote, so just put in your time in the future looking after the team," he admonished his youthful driver.

"Despite the senator's objection, the boy was again in the front seat the next day and the following day. This enraged Vest, and he thundered:

"Why do you persist in always occupying that front seat? Didn't I tell you I make the same speech every day? It's as old and stale to you as it is to me. Why insist on hearing it again and again?"

"I want to see what you're going to do when you forget it," answered the boy. Vest capitulated.—St. Louis Republic.

THE ELEPHANT FLEET.

How It Is Used by the British Government in India.

Its elephant fleet is one of the strangest and most deadly departments maintained by the British government in India. It is a large fleet of coasting steamers specially built for the transport of elephants. India's population is one-fifth that of the entire globe. All these people use elephants. They use them for draft work and for tiger hunting, and in the areas of the native states they even pit them against one another and against wild beasts. The elephant fleet transfers the animals from Dacca, the trapping and training headquarters, to the various districts whence comes the demand.

To get an elephant aboard ship is a difficult and dangerous task. The animal must wade through the surf to a stout raft, and this unknown surf, so white and tumultuous, often terrifies and maddens him. If in his fury he Nietzsche and the Invalid.

An invalid lady who often met Nietzsche found him the gentlest, kindest and most sympathetic of men. He "implored her with tears in his eyes not to read his books." Such was his knowledge of women that he was thunderstruck to find shortly afterward that the lady at once proceeded to read them all. He was further stupefied by the discovery that, having read them, she was utterly unmoved by the philosopher's unanswerable demonstrations that feeble persons like herself had no right to live, and that women were distinguished by this, that and the other objectionable attribute. It must have been a blow to him.—London News

Our Friends.

If we choose our friends for what they are, not for what they have, and if we deserve so great a blessing, then they will be always with us, preserved in absence and even after death, in the amber of memory.—Cicero.

MACBETH EVANS COMPANY PLANS BIG ADDITION TO PRESENT LOCAL PLANT

NEGOTIATING WITH BOROUGH AND PLATE GLASS COMPANY FOR SITE

Purpose to Use New Addition for Warehouse and as a Finishing Room for Special Products

With their ever increasing trade the Macbeth-Evans company expects to build an addition to their present plant here within the near future, if ground for which they are negotiating can be secured. The addition would be used largely for a ware house and for a finishing plant for special ware the manufacture of which constitutes a large portion of the Macbeth Evans product at the present time.

Last night C. R. Perigren, the business manager for the company met with a committee from council consisting of Charles O. Frye, W. R. Gant and Charles Schmieler, relative to the vacating of Eighth street, bordering the factory. The Macbeth Evans company are understood to have an option on a strip owned by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, on the southern side of Eighth street and it is planned to widen the plant 100 feet.

Council is in favor of assisting in whatever way they can the Macbeth Evans company in their efforts to secure the site, but feel that to donate the strip asked for, would be exceeding their rights. They will not dispose of Eighth street, it is said unless another opening to the river can be secured.

At the meeting of the committee last night Superintendent Hays of the Hussey Binns Shovel company was present and was asked to take up with his company a proposition from the borough to purchase enough ground to permit them to make a street to the river at Third street and he promised to do so at his earliest opportunity.

The Macbeth Evans company now has in its employ between 1,800 and 1,500 persons, and averages a pay weekly of $12,000 or $13,000. It is Charleroi's chief industry and the company's manufacturing interest are gradually centering here. The construction of an addition would mean the employment of a number more men.

BELLE VERNON BRIDGE COMPANY

FILES AN APPEAL IN FAYETTE

First Step in Neighbor County in Refusing Set Price.

UMBEL INSTRUCTS VANCE

The first step of the Belle Vernon Bridge Corporation in Fayette county, was taken yesterday when Attorney W. K. Vance of McIlwain, Vance and Gibson, of Monongahela, appeared in their behalf and asked for an appeal from the purchase of the property by the county authorities. The appeal was asked for under the Act of 1878. Attorney Vance stated that the company had already taken an appeal in Washington county and merely wanted a transcript of the records of Fayette county to make their case complete in the other court.

R. F. Hopwood, counsel for the commissioners objected, and asked for time to make an examination before the appeal is allowed in this county. At the end of that period he will be ready to give his opinion as to the legality of the matter.

Vance told the court that there was no question as to the legality of the case as they had already secured an appeal in Washington county. Judge Umbel replied that the facts of the Westmoreland county court do not bind the courts of Fayette county and ordered the papers filed.

He had to be tied in bed to keep him there.

TUBERCULOSIS IS PREVALENT

Health Officer Finds Slavs Suffer More than any Other Race.

FLIES CAUSE TROUBLE

According to Health Officer William Darby the house fly and other insects are the principal causes of most of the fatalities, sickness and disease among children. The Slavish people being the greatest sufferers, the Italians being second on the list. He says:

"Among the adults tuberculosis is the prevailing disease, caused principally by living in over-crowded houses, bad ventilation, sleeping in damp rooms and cellars.

"Such places should be closed, and the party renting the same should not be permitted to collect rent for such houses after being condemned by the proper officers, until it is put in a healthy and sanitary condition. This is my observation of conditions existing at present and I am satisfied I am sustained by some of the leading physicians.

"There is a great amount of money expended by the State to cover some of these conditions, but we will have to have more stringent laws enacted dealing directly with unscrupulous landlords and real estate agents who allow such conditions to exist about the properties they rent."

REORGANIZING COAL COMPANY SO BANK CAN GET ITS MONEY

To take over the stock and property of the Washington County Coal company, in order that the stockholders of the New Castle Savings and Trust company may secure the money yet due them, it is now planned to form a new coal company. It will be called the Avella Coal company. Stockholders of the banks and the Washington County Coal company will be much interested. All the former yesterday received official notice of this plan.

Each of the bank stockholders is asked to sign a written release of his bank stock to be exchanged when the plans are completed for stock in the Avella Coal company.

Written signed releases by the bank stockholders of their interests are necessary the notices explain, in order that Receiver John H. Panter of the bank will be able to make his final report to the Dauphin county court of his receivership without having first to go through a long audit.

AUTO IS WRECKED BY TRAIN

Louis Kyle Has Narrow Escape From Death.

ENGINE STOPPED RUNNING

Louis Kyle, the proprietor of the Kyle Hotel at Bella Vernon had a narrow escape from death this morning, and at the same time lost a Model 10 Buick automobile, in which he was coming to Charleroi, when his machine was struck by a train at the railroad crossing between Speers and Charleroi. The machine was smashed to pieces.

Mr. Kyle was driving the automobile himself, and was the only one in it. Just as he got well on the north bound track the engine of the machine for the first time in its history went back on him, and left the automobile standing there. Just at this juncture the work train for which a man by the name of Bird was engineer came along, and before it could be stopped had crashed into the machine. Kyle saw the oncoming train in time to leap from the automobile. The splintered machine was brought to Spencer's automobile garage in small pieces.

NEW REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE ROOMS NICEST IN STATE

Fine Place Fitted up at Washington as County Headquarters.

Washington County Republicans now have about the nicest headquarters in the state—the rooms ensuite is the only way to it—in the Brown building, third floor, Washington, Pa. Any luke warm worker will be willing to confer there several times during a campaign and Chairman J. Frank McClay anticipates some difficulty in getting away from the rooms even to see a ball game or a Centennial parade.

About August 15, Chairman McClay has stated, Charles Matthews, candidate for Congress will come up from New Castle to meet Washington county Republicans in the new headquarters. The congressional nominee's most effective campaign work is done by personal contact with the voters and he is now planning a tour of the three counties. The new headquarters will be visited for the first time by many when Matthews arrives.

PRESIDENT LEWIS CALLS CONVENTION

Matters to be Settled Definitely Regarding Illinois Field.

President T. L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America Tuesday issued a call from Indianapolis for a special national convention of miners to be held in that city. Lewis says this is imperative because of complications in many districts and because of unfairness in the vote by which the peace proposals for the Illinois field were overwhelmingly defeated.

Miners generally believe there is a powerful movement on foot to force the general coal mining situation to the front as a political issue. They point to Col. Roosevelt and John Mitchell in the anthracite field and active at Washington. The last administration is apparently trying to hold tight strings on the new Bureau of Mines and President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor flatly announces that he does not intend to resign and that there is no controversy between his organization and the Western Federation of Labor.

MINERS OF DISTRICT ASKED TO ASSIST IRWIN STRIKERS

International Board Joining With Local Board in Providing Funds for Relief of Those Out of Work

MANY NEW MEN IMPORTED BY THE COMPANY

The miners of the Pittsburgh district will shortly be asked to contribute to a fund to assist in supporting the miners of the Irwin field. The international board will also assist the strikers something not done heretofore by the head body of the miner's organization.

The 12,000 idle miners in that district have been looked after by the local officers of the United Mine Workers of District No. 5, and when strikers have been ejected by the deputies in the employ of the coal operators, the miners have given all the assistance possible, buying tents and provisions and doing all in their power to assist the strikers, telling them to hold out a little longer and they will be sure to return to the miners as union men and work under union conditions.

Many men who have never before mined coal it is said are being imported into the field by the coal companies.

At present more than $10,000 is being sent into the field and this amount will be increased to $20,000 or more before the middle of next month.

Tom Haggerty of the central Pennsylvania field is now in charge of the situation in the strike zone and is being assisted by the miners' officials of the Pittsburgh and Irwin field.

WASHINGTON IS DETERMINED TO HAVE AEROPLANE

Centennial Feature Promised for Big Week in October.

Washington will have the aeroplane exhibition for one of the big features of the Centennial celebration October 2 to 8 next. This was demonstrated when Manager Bollman visited a number of the business men of the town to secure guarantors for the $5,000 necessary to bring the airship to Washington. The proposition met with a warm response and a goodly sum was subscribed within two hours' time. The plan which is being pushed to bring the airship there is in certain respects a private enterprise. Stock is subscribed for at the rate of $10 a share no payment being required until October. As soon as the entire $5,000 is covered in his way the coming of the aeroplane is assured. This sum, however, must be guaranteed by Thursday night as that is the time limit set by the Wright brothers.

School will open this term on August 29. Superintendent J. G. Pentz with his daughter is enjoying a vacation now in the east and will return shortly to take up the preparatory work. Indications are for a successful term.

Wind and Nerves

The east winds hug the earth more closely and gather moisture, dust and bacteria says the Chicago Tribune. They are cold and humid, altogether forming an enervating influence on human and animal life, and rendering it susceptible to the disease germs which the winds carry and disseminate.

The cool, pure northwest winds come from a region of dry highly electrified air where ozone exists in comparatively large quantities. They are invigorating. The framework of nerves in the human being is like a delicate electrical apparatus the nerves being the wires and the brain a ganglia receiving and distributing centres.

Everyone knows that a telephone works better on a clear, dry day than on a wet, muggy one. The moist atmosphere lessens vitality. The nerve wires grow flaccid and heavy. The messages become confused. Hence low spirits, melancholia, distorted mental outlook, faulty assimilation and disease.

The opposite effects flow from the northwest winds. The west and the northwest winds keep the mucous membranes of the body in good working order. The coating of moisture which is always present with the east winds disappears. Absence of any wind if long continued has a bad effect on the human body and mind.

A prolonged calm means lack of ventilation on a great scale. The winds serve to mix in normal proportions the gases which compose the atmosphere, and in this way they are conducive to health up to a certain point. Beyond about twenty miles an hour their influence begins to be unfavorable.

War on Rats

Perhaps no where else in the world is such a systematic warfare against rats being conducted as in San Francisco says the Wheeling Register. Thirty laborers are employed all the time as rat trappers and there are about eight thousand traps and cages in constant use. Poison is prohibited except in the sewers. Elsewhere bacon, cheese and bread are used. The war of extermination has been in progress for many months, yet the report for the month of May, during which 8,561 rats were trapped, indicates that there is still an abundance of material to work on. The bait used included 321 pounds of bacon, 100 pounds of cheese and 620 loaves of bread. More than 27,000 pieces of poisoned bread were distributed on boards placed in sewers.

There is no way of knowing just what progress has been made in the rat war in 'Frisco, since it is impossible to tell what the ratio is between the rat population of the city and the number caught. If thirty men can still make an average haul of 1,000 a month, it is apparent that the pest is far from being stamped out. Rats propagate so rapidly that it is likely that several times that number are born every month in San Francisco.

Man has never made much progress in his fight against the rat, and probably never will unless some modern piper presents a more effective weapon than has yet been devised. The chief value of this campaign in San Francisco lies not so much in the number of rats destroyed as in the higher regard for sanitation which it has brought about in the instruction of buildings and in the care of premises.

The Rise of the Negro

"How rapid has been the rise of the negro race during the last ten years as a property owning class in the South is shown in publication of the Atlanta University edited by Prof. W. E. Burghardt Du Bois, says the New York World.

"In 1900 the total property listed by negro citizens in North Carolina amounted to $9,478,899; by 1908 it had increased to $21,258,581, a gain of 123 per cent.

"In 1900 the total assessed value of real estate and personal property owned by negroes in Virginia was $15,856,570 in 1908 it was $25,624,886, an increase of nearly 62 per cent.

"In 1900 the assessed value property owned by negroes in Georgia was $14,118,720; in 1908 it was $27,042,672, a gain of over 91 per cent.

"According to the estimates of the American Economic association, the accumulated wealth of the negro race in the United States in 1900 was approximately $800,000,000. It is a reasonable inference from the figures of the three states quoted that the total property owned by negroes in 1908 was not less than $566,030,000. This is a relatively small amount of property in the aggregate, considering the numbers of the negro population, but the rate at which it has been acquired and the condition of steady progress which it illustrates are of great significance."

Needless too state there are few outside President Taft who have enjoyed even a mite of their two month's vacation yet.

CATHOLICS ABOUT MURDER BAPTISTS

Sort of a Wreck up at the Baseball Lot Early Last Evening.

It really wasn't necessary for the Baptists and Catholics to play seven innings last night as the Catholics were handed enough runs in the very first round to win out. Four runs were given them without the least sign of a hit, three errors, a wild pitch and two passed balls being responsible. The Catholics made two more in the second and tallied four in the third after which they were satisfied to get two hits as Kearns and his backers steadied down, allowing no runners to pass second.

The Baptists were not so lucky as the Catholics as they had no person on bases when the Catholics made their misplays. Their three runs were secured mostly by hitting, a three sacker and two singles bringing in two in the second, one coming in the third on two singles and a stolen base. Score:

Want Pure Water

Analysis of the water being furnished Scottsdale residents by the Citizens Water company from Indian Creek and the Mt. Vernon reservoirs shows that the stuff is greatly polluted. The product has been "stinking," to use the plain word for it. There are over 30 cases of typhoid fever in the town, and the water that is being taken for drinking purposes is in a very bad condition. Weekly analysis are demanded to keep a close tab on the situation.

The surface cars of New York carry on each line as different a nationality as if each belonged to a different country. On the Eighth avenue line there are mostly colored people; on the Sixth avenue they are largely Americans, if there are any Americans in New York; on the Broadway cars there are stylishly dressed New Yorkers; on the Third avenue Irish and Jewish people predominate; on the Second avenue Jewish, Italian, Hungarian, Swedish and German, while on the surface cars that run along Avenue A you see every foreign nationality under the sun, all bareheaded.—New York Press.

THE CHAMELEON.

This Curious Animal is Like Two Half Creatures Joined.

The chameleon is not allied closely to any other animal. It stands as a genus by itself. The nervous centers in one lateral half operate independently of those in the other. This seems outrageous, and it is, but it is true. The chameleon has two lateral centers of perception—of sensation and of motion. There exists also a third center—that common one in which abides the power of concentration by means of which the two sides of the creature may be forced to work in harmony with each other. But this center of concentration does not always dominate the situation. Notwithstanding the strictly symmetrical structure of the animal's two halves, the eyes move quite independently, and they convey distinct and separate impressions to their respective centers of perception. As of the eyes, so of the other members on which reports to and is controlled by its own center.

The result is that when the faculty of concentration becomes disturbed everything is jumbled. Let the chameleon be much agitated and its wave of concentration is broken.

Two creatures fastened together, or rather, of two half creatures joined, each half exhibits its intention of going its separate way. The result is a pitiable confusion of movement. There is no concordance of action. A curious example of the chameleon's helplessness when unduly excited is found in the fact that it cannot swim. The shock of being plunged into water upsets the pulse of its faculty for concentration. Forthwith each side strikes out wildly for itself, to its own undoing. The chameleon is the only four legged vertebrate that cannot swim. When the creature is calm every impulse to motion is referred to the common center of concentration, and the entire organism acts in fitting accord with the commands issued by that faculty. Thus, while totally different impressions from the two eyes are transmitted from their centers to the common one, that concentrating power decides as to which scene is the more important and then directs the eye otherwise engaged also to regard it. The same principle applies in the control of all the members—so long as the animal remains unexcited. Any observer may easily verify the existence of this dual nature in a superficial way by some experiments with a sleeping chameleon. A touch on one side of the animal will wake that side up, while the other side sleeps calmly on.

Fits For Home Wedding.

The summer wedding is a dainty affair, as all festive happenings must be. And the bride and the bridegroom and most of all the bride's family must not forget that at this wedding as at all weddings all the year round showiness isn't such a bad thing. The wedding breakfast, for instance, may be a charming piece of gracious hospitality and happiness. But for persons of moderate means, it is the worst possible taste to splurge in the usual way. An afternoon or morning wedding can be made a charming without extravagance with it, while the little spread provided at home for the intimate few may, with taste, take on a special exquisite ness through its very reserve. Artistic light lending particular charm to the effects, have the big table which is to hold the refreshments in the dining room so lighted. Candles fling a pretty glow, particularly if shaded with a faint pink, and it is not absolutely necessary for the trimmings of a bride's luncheon or tea table to be in white, though the general prejudice is for this.

If the table is gracefully decorated, candle shades, ribbons and dowers all in one tone—any little bite and sup is enough to show good feeling. A simple buffet table or afternoon tea frequently follows a wedding instead of the usual more elaborate breakfast. At this there may be a big bowl of fruit punch, sandwiches of several sorts, fancy cakes, leas and bonbons. For those who may not care for the punch, bouillon, coffee, tea or chocolate may be offered. Have the spread of whatever dainties you choose, but remember that an invitation to the home calls for some sort of hospitality however slight.

The bride also cuts the wedding cake herself and sees that every guest has a portion.

To Iron Pongee.

When ironing any article made of pongee, iron it without first sprinkling it and you will find it looks far newer and silkier than when dampened and ironed in the usual manner. Woman's Home Companion.

Clearing the Atmosphere.

In his capacity of dramatic critic Mr. J. Comyns Carr, the author, wrote a notice of the play of "Charles I." in which Irving played under the management of Mr. Bateman. His production deeply incensed the manager, in order perhaps to find the opportunity of informing the critic of his disparagement the manager invited him to a supper at the Westminster club on the second or third night of the production. When he thought the sitting up had arrived Mr. Bateman led the conversation to the point at issue and emphatically lauding the actor with his fist, declared in the loudest of tones that he did not produce his play at the Theatre Royal to please Mr. Comyns Carr. It was a moment's awkward silence, which Mr. Carr confessed he did not feel quite able to break, but which was released by a wit of the company with the happy remark, "Well, dear boy, that you can be surprised if they don't please him."

SLIP FOR A BABY.

It is in One Piece and Has Two Seams and is Easily Made.

A charming slip for a baby that is in every sense of the word a "one piece frock" is made after an admirable pattern. The little garment is cut out from one piece of material, a round hole cut out for the neck and an opening down the back for four or five inches to allow the slip to go over the baby's head.

There are two seams, from the hem to the wrist of the sleeve, one on each side.

This pattern may be used for any material. A slip of finest white muslin was made after this model. Around the neck was a narrow band of hand embroidery—a spray of forget-me-nots and tiny leaves in the white mercerized thread—briarstitch to the frock. The sleeves were trimmed in the same manner at the wrist, and both neck and sleeves were finished with a frill of fine narrow lace.

A panel was outlined both back and front by a scroll design of forget-me-nots and French knots running from the hem in front over the shoulders to the back.

A three inch hem bordered the bottom of the slip, and it was fastened down the back with tiny pearl ball buttons.

A cap was made to be worn with this slip, and it was of fine white lawn embroidered all around the edge with a scroll of tiny forget-me-nots, and the same blossoms were scattered all over the entire surface. The edge was scalloped and buttonholed and finished with a frill of lace gathered to the underside of the bonnet. This made a soft frame for the baby's face.

A lining of thin forget-me-not blue silk and one of shell pink came with the bonnet and two sets of bugs or rosettes of soft satin ribbon, one of blue, one of shell pink. The rosettes were fastened to the bonnet over each ear, and a single piece of ribbon went under the chin and fastened under a rosette with a tiny gold safety pin.

When the blue rosettes were worn, they brought out the blue of the baby's eyes, and the pink ones heightened the color of the soft little face.

A DEADLY CONTEST.

Tragic Climax of a Bicycle Race in Australia.

One of the most singular events in the annals of athletics occurred a few years ago at Sydney, Australia. The occasion was a great electric light bicycle race, and the attendance was not less than 10,000 people. There were fifty entries, two of whom James Somerville and Perry Cliff, were not only professional rivals, but deadly enemies. Both were considered expert riders.

From the start of the race Somerville led, with Cliff a close second. Somerville kept the lead throughout and came into the last lap with Cliff only a few feet behind him. When about twenty-five yards from the finish Somerville put on a terrific burst of speed and drew away from his rival. Suddenly at this point his grip on the handle bar relaxed, and he fell forward. The machine, however, was far too tremendous impulse it had received, raced ahead like an arrow, the rider hanging limply over the handle bar.

Four yards from the tape the machine slowed down a little. At this point the front wheel of Cliff's machine struck the hind wheel of Somerville's, sending both wheel and rider across the tape. Somerville won the race, but he was dead several seconds before he crossed the tape.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Dalton's Experiment.

The English chemist Dalton was a schoolteacher. He worked without a laboratory and with crude apparatus, mostly made by himself from simple materials. Here is an example described in his own words:

"Took an ale glass of a conical figure, two and a half inches in diameter and three inches deep; filled it with water that had been standing in the room and consequently of the temperature of the air nearby; put the bulb of the thermometer to the bottom of the glass, the scale being out of the water. Then, having marked the temperature, I put the red-hot tip of the poker half an inch deep in the water, holding it there steadily for half a minute and as soon as it was withdrawn I dipped the bulb of a sensible thermometer into the water, when it rose in a few seconds to 180 degrees."

He then determined the temperature of the water at the bottom after five minutes, after twenty minutes and after an hour and found that it rose gradually from 47 to 52 degrees. This simple experiment proved that water has the power to conduct heat, which had been denied by no less an authority than Rumford.—Youth's Companion.

Triumphs of Travel.

"Now he's bragging about how he did Venice."
"What do you mean?"
"Most tourists spend a week in Venice. He did it in a day."—Kansas City Journal.

No Excuse.

"Is that horse you bought a kicker?"
"A kicker?" answered Mr. Sirrus Barker. "I am the fellow who paid twice his value and who is buying the feed. What has the horse got to kick about?"—Washington Star.

His Misfortune.
